Portfolio Manager Commentary

Equity markets retreated in March amid rising tariff-driven economic concerns and escalating geopolitical tensions. US markets were down sharply at the start of the month before recovering some losses by month end, with the S&P 500 down by 5.7% in US dollar (USD) terms. The tech-heavy NASDAQ index declined by -8.1% in USD terms. European markets fared slightly better, benefitting from ongoing rotation from investors seeking alternatives to the US, with the MSCI Europe (ex UK) down 0.6% in USD terms. South African equities (FTSE/JSE Capped SWIX) bucked the trend, delivering strong positive performance of 3.6%, being the best performing asset class year-to-date, up 5.8%.

Elevated uncertainty stemming from the volatile nature of US trade policy dampened growth expectations in the US, while in Europe, the fiscal response has been much more forceful than many were anticipating. These factors combined pushed developed market equities (MSCI World) down 4.5% in USD terms for the month. Emerging market equities (MSCI EM) outperformed developed markets, up 0.6% in USD terms, with Chinese equities (MSCI China) also up 2% in USD terms. Global property (FTSE EPRA Nareit) did not escape the volatility, down 2.1% for the month.

In bond markets, yields surged initially as optimism rose. However, yields plunged sharply towards the end of the month, amid safe-haven demand ahead of Trump's tariffs announcement. It is worth noting that yields move in the opposite direction of prices (and returns), with a lower yield indicating greater demand for government debt. Global bonds (FTSE WGBI) delivered a positive return overall, up 0.7% for the month in USD terms. The rand held steady, strengthening by 1.8% to trade at R18.32 against the US dollar at month end.

South African equities (FTSE/JSE Capped SWIX) had a strong month, up 3.6%. The resources sector was the main driver of local equity returns, up 18.4% for the month and 27.9% year-to-date. Industrials were down 0.3% after a strong month in February while Financials ended the month flat. Listed property (ALPI) ended the month down 1.5% and down 4.2% year-to-date.

SA bonds (FTSE/JSE ALBI) ended the month in positive territory, up 0.2% overall. However, the yield curve continued to steepen in March as bonds at the long end of the curve, in the 12+ year spectrum, came under pressure in response to the budget, down 0.7%. Shorter dated instruments in the one to 3-year and three to 7-year maturities contributed 0.8% and 1% respectively, to offset losses from longer dated bonds, while bonds in the seven to 12-year spectrum contributed 0.4%. As the South African Reserve Bank (SARB) kept the repo rate unchanged at 7.5%, in line with the consensus forecast, local cash (SteFI) continue to deliver inflation beating returns, up 0.6% for the month and 8.3% for the past year.

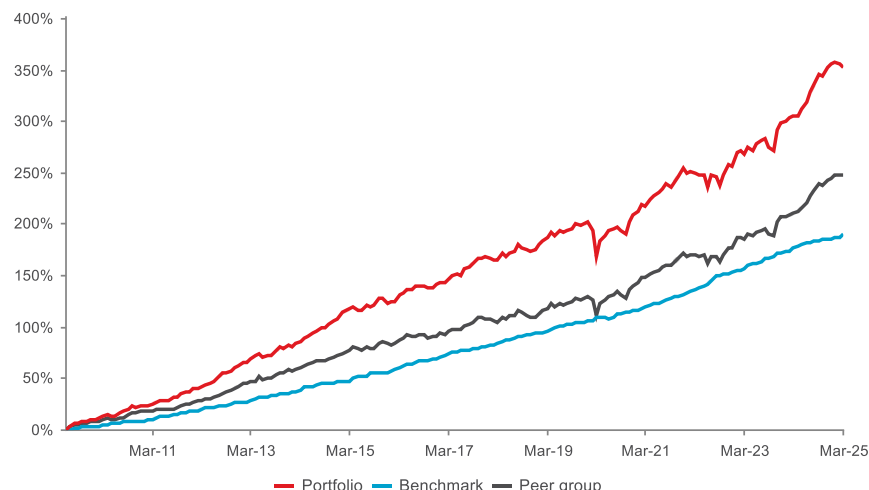

During times of sharp market movements, caution and patience is required. Even though March saw sharp swings driven by intensifying tariff concerns, unsettling markets and elevating volatility, a diversified approach to portfolio construction remains the best tool to navigate uncertainty.

Risk Appetite: Conservative

The portfolio typically has low equity exposure resulting in some capital volatility over the shorter term. The portfolio is managed in such a manner that the probability of capital losses over one year periods is low.

The launch date is the start date of the tracker or index portfolio, which is used to track the portfolio's returns. These are time-weighted returns and the effect of cash flows are not taken into account. Returns before this date are based on back tested returns using the portfolio's strategic asset allocation at the launch date, which would not reflect Consult's historic asset allocation views, or any changes, which would have been made to the portfolio holdings over time. For the back tested return calculations, the underlying funds' retail share classes with the longest return histories have been used. For funds with limited return histories, the applicable index returns have been used. For the tracker or index portfolios, returns are after the deduction of the portfolio management fee and either before, or after, the deduction of any platform administration fees (depending on the platform on which the tracker or index portfolio is invested) and before financial adviser fees. Returns for periods exceeding one year are annualised. The return for the Consumer Price Index (CPI) is at the end of the previous month. Total investment charges (TIC) are the sum of a fund's total expense ratio (TER) and the transaction costs (TC). The portfolio's TIC is an estimated total for the portfolio based on the weighted average of the underlying funds in which the portfolio invests using the latest available data. The portfolio's asset allocation is based on the weighted average of the underlying funds in which the portfolio invests using the latest available data. The portfolio's asset allocation may differ from time to time due to market movements, changes to the portfolio and the underlying fund data and limitations. The underlying funds may contain exposure to assets that are invested globally, which may present additional risks. Individual investor returns may differ as a result of platform and adviser fees, the actual investment date, cash flows and other transactions. All fees include VAT. A fee may be paid to the Consult financial adviser for their participation in the investment management process of the portfolio at no additional cost to the investor. Consult does not provide a guarantee on the value of the portfolio, nor does it guarantee the returns of the underlying funds in the portfolio. The investor acknowledges the inherent risk associated with the portfolio (currency, investment, market and credit risks) and that capital is not guaranteed. A switch transaction between underlying funds within the portfolio may incur capital gains tax (CGT) for the investor, should the product through which the investor buys the portfolio not be CGT exempt.
